

Conservation Walks at Rectory Farm, Great Easton

A network of permissive paths has been created across this farmland to provide stunning views of the local landscape. From the hill above Great Easton, the nearby Eyebrook Reservoir and the Eyebrook and Welland Valleys can be seen. Please keep to the correct paths show by the waymarking signs, and please keep your dog on a lead.

Key: Entry and exit point ● Permissive Path —

This access has been provided by Philip Johnson & Daughters, it is permissive access only and no new rights of way are being created. Follow the 'Country Code', do not disturb wildlife or farm animals, please keep to the paths and keep dogs on a lead. This is a working farm so please take care, people using these paths do so at their own risk.
